STRATEGY

A Controlled New Search Campaign

This is the first version of the campaign plan. It keeps the launch focused on people already looking for therapy support, then gives you a clear way to approve services, priorities, copy, and regions before spend begins.

What we are proposing

Search-first launch

The campaign is built for people already searching for therapy support, not broad awareness. All keywords use phrase match for cleaner early data.

Website-backed services

The launch focuses on services visible on the site: Anxiety Therapy, Individual Therapy, Group Therapy, CBT Therapy, DBT Therapy, OCD Therapy, Depression Therapy, Social Anxiety Therapy.

Priority still needs input

Confirm which services should receive the most traffic before the launch budget is finalized.

Launch review status

The CSV validates cleanly, but remains paused until budget, service priority, and your approval decisions are confirmed.

Audience and service area

Audience from source material: adolescents, young adults in their 20s and 30s, adults for group therapy

Positioning: online therapy for anxiety and related concerns

Targeting: New York, United States, New Jersey, United States

Targeting method: Location of presence

BUDGET

How We Protect Your Budget While Improving Performance

This page shows how the approved monthly budget turns into daily pacing, why spend should not be front-loaded, and how we keep room to improve once real search data appears.

APPROVED MONTHLY BUDGET	DAILY BUDGET	LOW DAILY RANGE	HIGH DAILY RANGE
$3,000	$100	$60	$145

How your budget moves through the month

The goal is to protect early spend while search terms, cost per click, and service demand become clearer.

Healthy daily range · Amount spent over time · Budget remaining · CPC and click movement

KEY	WHAT IT SHOWS
A	Most of the monthly budget is still available, so we can learn before pushing spend.
B	Day-to-day swings in CPC, demand, and clicks are normal early on.
C	We refine search terms and traffic while keeping daily spend inside the healthy band.
D	A quieter day is not always a problem. Auction conditions and CPC move too.
E	Spend steps up as results and intent become clearer.
F	Remaining budget eases down through the month instead of front-loading spend.

BUDGET

Why Spend Increases As Performance Gets Clearer

This page explains the operating logic behind the pacing curve. We do not spend more because the campaign is guessing. We spend more when the evidence is cleaner.

Why spend increases as performance gets clearer

Early spend is intentionally cautious. As waste is cut and signals improve, more of the same monthly budget can be committed with confidence.

STEP	WHAT IMPROVES
A	We see which searches are worth paying for before scaling.
B	Low-value traffic is trimmed.
C	CPC, conversions, and lead quality become easier to read.
D	We can raise spend because the data behind it is cleaner.

What this means for your campaign

We pace the full month

Daily spend and clicks will move. The aim is healthy pacing through day 30.

Starting lighter protects budget

Early limits leave room to learn before we push winning areas.

CPC changes click volume

The same dollars buy more or fewer clicks as auctions shift.

Later spend is intentional

Increases follow clearer performance, not random day-to-day noise.

STRUCTURE

What The Campaign Contains

The structure is intentionally compact so the first launch can validate service demand before expanding into separate state or specialty campaigns.

Campaign architecture

Build shape

8 ad groups organize service intent, modality intent, and social anxiety demand into one compact Search launch.

Keyword control

56 phrase keywords and 10 negative phrase keywords are staged. Broad and exact match are not active.

REGIONAL TARGETING

Where The Campaign Is Set To Reach

The current plan stays table-based so the launch geography is easy to review. Confirm the current scope or add city and ZIP priorities before launch.

Current targeting

The current staging file targets the approved service states. If city or ZIP focus areas should be prioritized, they can be added after review.

New York, United States

New Jersey, United States

LOCATION	STATUS	REVIEW NOTE
New York, United States	Staged	Approved launch geography
New Jersey, United States	Staged	Approved launch geography

City and ZIP review

AREA TYPE	CURRENT DETAIL	WHAT TO CONFIRM
City focus	Not narrowed yet	Confirm priority cities before launch if some areas matter more than others.
ZIP clusters	Not supplied yet	Provide ZIPs only if spend should concentrate around specific neighborhoods or offices.
Regional exclusions	None staged	Identify any places that should not receive launch traffic.

Location targeting can use countries, areas within a country, radius targets, or location groups. Source: Google Ads location targeting.

AD COPY

Examples To Review

Each responsive search ad has 15 headlines and 4 descriptions in the staging file. These examples show the tone and claims used across the build.

Approval checklist

☑ Ad groups

I confirm the services and ad groups listed in this proposal are the right areas to run ads for, including which services should receive the most traffic first.

☑ Ads

I confirm the ad copy direction, including the headline and description variations, is accurate enough to move forward or revise from.

☑ Regional targeting

I confirm where ads should run, including the current state targeting and any city, ZIP, or exclusion changes needed before launch.

☑ Budget

I confirm the monthly budget and pacing approach, including that daily spend may vary while we optimize toward the monthly budget and performance goals.

By signing below, I confirm the checked items above are approved or ready for final revisions before launch.
