OVERVIEW

What This Review Covers

This report walks through the campaign structure, service ad groups, ads, proposed targeting, budget pacing, and final confirmation items before launch.

1

Structure

How the launch is organized now and how it can expand later if performance supports it.

2

Ad groups

Which services are ready to run ads and which priorities should be confirmed first.

3

Ads and regions

Representative ad copy examples, proposed regional targeting, and the priority market questions to confirm before launch.

4

Budget and confirmation

How the budget is paced through the month, then one final page for approval.

CAMPAIGN STRUCTURE

How The Campaign Can Grow Over Time

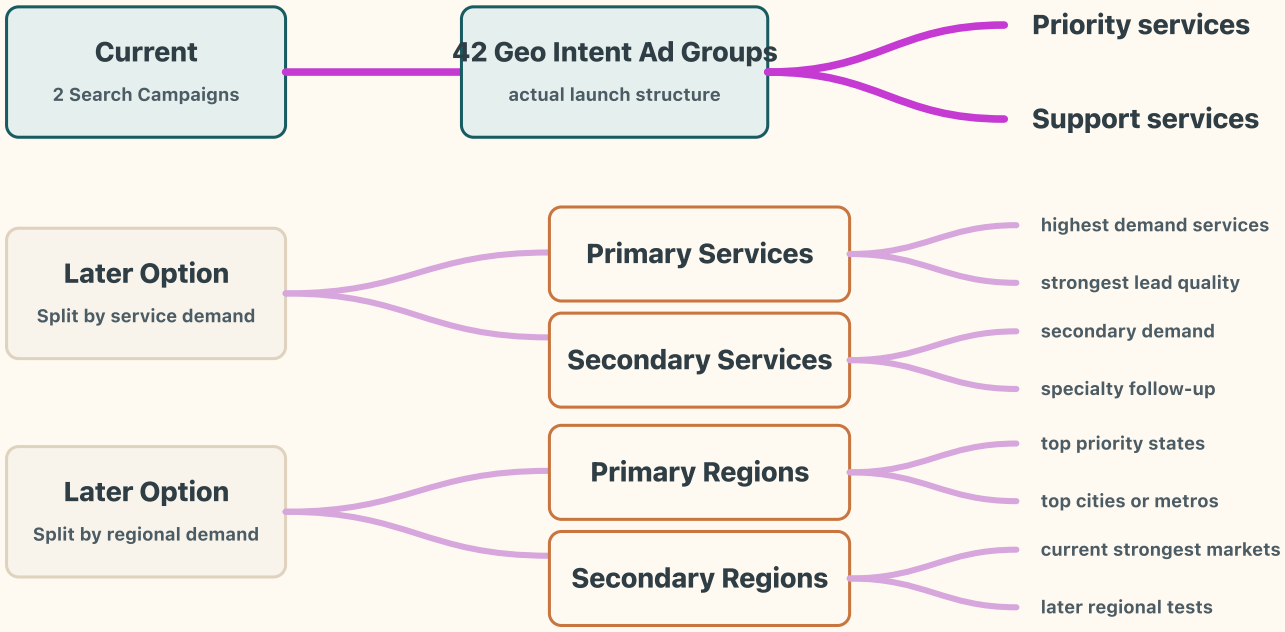
The launch starts compact. Future campaigns can split by service or region only after the data shows where separate budgets and reporting would help.

Launch shape

The current launch uses 2 controlled Search campaigns with 42 service and geo intent ad groups. This keeps early learning clean and easier to review.

Expansion rule

City ad groups should be added only when approved city priorities are supplied or performance data shows a region needs its own copy and reporting focus.



One campaign now

The first launch stays compact so the early budget is not spread too thin.

Split later by proof

Future campaign splits should follow lead quality, conversion signals, and search demand.

No extra campaigns yet

The service and regional splits shown here are future paths, not active launch campaigns.

AD GROUPS

Services We Are Running Ads For

These are the service areas currently prepared in the Google Ads Editor file. Confirm the list is complete and identify which services should receive the most traffic first.

Services ready for ads

42 ad groups organize general, near-me, state, and approved city intent for the first launch.

Keyword control

264 phrase keywords and 20 negative phrase keywords are prepared. Active launch keywords use phrase match.

REGIONAL TARGETING

Where The Campaign Is Set To Reach

The current plan stays table-based so launch geography is easy to review. Confirm the staged markets or provide city priorities before launch.

Current targeting and review items

The current build targets New York, United States, New Jersey, United States. Treat this as a launch review item until the final market scope is approved.

New York, United States New Jersey, United States

AREA TYPE	AREA	STATUS	WHAT TO CONFIRM
Country	New York, United States, New Jersey, United States	Ready for review	Confirm these staged locations are the correct launch markets.
Top states	Top 5 states	Needed	List only if state priorities differ from the current staged locations.
City	Top 5 cities or metros	Needed	List the cities or metro areas where spend should concentrate first.
Current work	Largest current markets	Needed	Tell us where most current clients or organizational relationships are located.
Fastest wins	Priority growth markets	Needed	Tell us whether there are focus areas where stronger referrals, recognition, or capacity can produce faster wins.
Exclusions	States, cities, or ZIPs	Needed	Identify anywhere inside the staged markets where the campaign should not spend.

Location targeting can use countries, areas within a country, radius targets, or location groups. Source: Google Ads location targeting.

PLEASE CONFIRM

Regional targeting: confirm the staged markets, any city priorities, current strongest markets, fastest-win focus areas, and exclusions.

GOALS

Capacity And Lead Goal

This section appears only when the client gives capacity, lead, or growth goals that should guide campaign pacing.

INITIAL NEW CLIENT GOAL	PLANNING CLOSE RATE	MINIMUM LEADS NEEDED	PLANNING LEAD RANGE
2	50%	4	4 to 8

How we use this goal

The campaign should create enough qualified conversations to support the client goal without forcing spend before capacity and lead quality are clear.

- Owner has immediate openings for about 2 to 3 clients.
- Associate therapist starts at the end of May with openings for 6 clients.
- Associate capacity is expected to reach 10 to 12 clients in the fall.
- Start more conservatively in May, then increase in June when associate capacity begins.
- Close rate is a planning assumption until confirmed by campaign data.

BUDGET

How We Protect Your Budget While Improving Performance

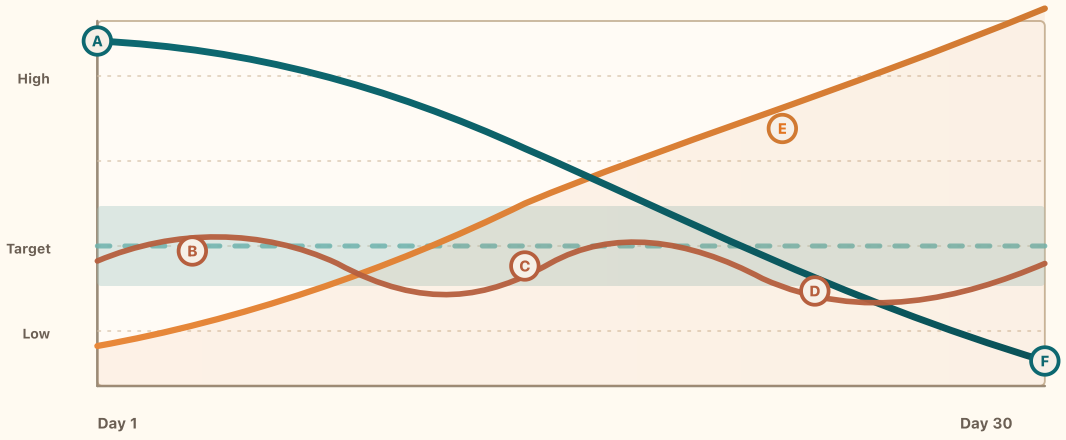
This page shows how the approved monthly budget turns into daily pacing, why spend should not be front-loaded, and how we keep room to improve once real search data appears.

APPROVED MONTHLY BUDGET	DAILY BUDGET	LOW DAILY RANGE	HIGH DAILY RANGE
$3,000	$100	$60	$145

How your budget moves through the month

The goal is to protect early spend while search terms, cost per click, and service demand become clearer.

Healthy daily range · Amount spent over time · Budget remaining · CPC and click movement



KEY	WHAT IT SHOWS
A	Most of the monthly budget is still available, so we can learn before pushing spend.
B	Day-to-day swings in CPC, demand, and clicks are normal early on.
C	We refine search terms and traffic while keeping daily spend inside the healthy band.
D	A quieter day is not always a problem. Auction conditions and CPC move too.
E	Spend steps up as results and intent become clearer.
F	Remaining budget eases down through the month instead of front-loading spend.

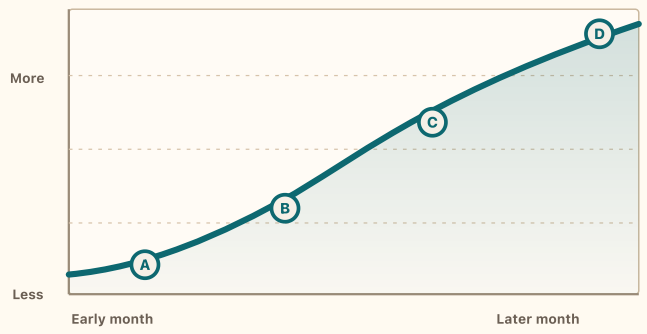
BUDGET

Why Spend Increases As Performance Gets Clearer

This page explains the operating logic behind the pacing curve. We do not spend more because the campaign is guessing. We spend more when the evidence is cleaner.

Why spend increases as performance gets clearer

Early spend is intentionally cautious. As waste is cut and signals improve, more of the same monthly budget can be committed with confidence.



STEP	WHAT IMPROVES
A	We see which searches are worth paying for before scaling.
B	Low-value traffic is trimmed.
C	CPC, conversions, and lead quality become easier to read.
D	We can raise spend because the data behind it is cleaner.

What this means for your campaign

We pace the full month

Daily spend and clicks will move. The aim is healthy pacing through day 30.

Starting lighter protects budget

Early limits leave room to learn before we push winning areas.

CPC changes click volume

The same dollars buy more or fewer clicks as auctions shift.

Later spend is intentional

Increases follow clearer performance, not reactive day-to-day changes.

PLEASE CONFIRM

Budget: confirm the $3,000 monthly budget before launch.
